STORIES OF SIR JOHN MACDONALD

A Dramatic Incident Then He Spoke—Bitterness to Reporters

[Special Correspondence.]

NEW YORK, June 15.—When I went to Canada as a reporter in the early seventies Sir John A Macdonald was undergoing the severest ordeal of his life. The great Premier always so fair was under investigation and his character of personal corruption were preferred against him. He was equal to all emergencies however I may say, a more dramatic scene than, when rebutting the accusations in the house of commons at Ottawa he stepped in front of his desk and holding out his hand palm upward toward the opposition benches, exclaimed with a dramatic force which would have been no discredit to Booth. "These hands are clean." The effect was electrical. The galleries rose as a man and cheered the plucky statesman and despite the fact that their political future hung on the moment many of his opponents applauded in unison with the popular outbreak.

This incident, while it marked his prompt retirement from power, increased Sir John's popularity. No matter what charges were made against him in the future, every one believed him pure personally. He made a charming leader in opposition. While speaking with a force and satire rarely heard in the house, there was invariably a playful smile on his face. He usually began his speeches in a low voice, repeating the last few words of his sentences as though gathering headway for the next. After his exordium however his face lighted up with enthusiasm, the hesitancy and repetition in speech fled and his words came forth with remarkable fluency—now hot with invective, then sweet with dulcet persuasiveness or biting with keen scorching irony. In common with all great parliamentary orators Sir John had the art at times of saying nothing in a great many words but as a rule his speeches were fraught with meaning, apt in illustration and direct to the point at issue.

To newspaper men Sir John was always pleasant and obliging. A note for obscure quotations used in his speeches (and he was remarkably apt in this way) always brought forth a ready response, requests for information of any kind were treated with delightful urbanity. He was a favorite with all parliamentary reporters in my time, and, while some may have dubbed him a slippery fox on questions of state, every one admitted that he was the very embodiment of courtesy and kindness in personal intercourse.

No better evidence of his playful humor, even in affairs of moment, can be given than his comment on an interview between the Marquis of Lorne and a London correspondent, shortly after the former arrived in Ottawa to assume the governor generalship of the Dominion. It was an open secret that Lorne and the Princess Louise went to Canada to promote his matrimonial interests by the influence of their rank and station. The marquis requested the journalist to write a letter to his newspaper exploiting the resources of the country. "Indeed I will not, your lordship," was the answer he got. "And why?" queried the marquis. "Because our advertising rate, are a shilling a line, payable invariably in advance." Lorne was disconfounded by the suggestion and dropped the subject. On leaving the story Sir John naively remarked, "The Scotch instinct will creep out. I would have put the bawbees myself if the marquis had taken the hint." JOHN W. POTGAIN.

THE WORLD'S FAIR.

Chicago Proposes to Have Well Paved Streets and Everything in Good Order.

[Special Correspondence.]

CHICAGO, June 16. Chicago will have well paved streets, clean streets, and first class general sanitary arrangements during the World's fair year. These are three essential conditions to the comfort and convenience of the hundreds of thousands of guests that the city will be called upon to entertain between May and November, 1893, and the latter feature, in particular, may be commended to the consideration of the members of the medical fraternity, at home and abroad, who will gather here in international convention before the doors of the big show have been closed. It may seem a small matter to dwell upon, but it isn't. The three points in question are necessaries in their way, and it must be confessed that at the present time the streets of the city are anything but well paved, anything but cheerly, and that moreover the general sanitary arrangements might be vastly improved upon.

If cleanliness is next to salvation, then the city of Chicago is a good many leagues away from the gates of the New Jerusalem. New York, Boston, Philadelphia, Cincinnati, Detroit, not to mention a score of other good sized towns, could put the Windy City to shame in one and all of these particulars. Nor is it the municipality that is moping toward glory in Chicago a new bib and tucker. That has been left to a number of public spirited citizens, or rather a large number of social clubs, which have appointed delegates to a committee for the purpose of doing what must be done. The women, too, have proffered their co-operation. It has been accepted, and between the two bodies there is little doubt but that the objects aimed at will be fully accomplished.

That is a novel idea that has been broached by Commissioner Bynum, of Mississippi, who is working earnestly and defiantly for a good representation from his state. He thinks that there are lots of people who would like to come to Chicago with their families and devote many weeks to inspecting and studying the exhibits but who could not do so if they were under a heavy tax for board and lodging. Consequently he suggests that the board of directors should secure a few hundred acres of vacant land adjoining or near Jackson park, where any one so inclined could put up their tents and live in army fashion.

Mr Bynum thinks and doubtless he is correct, that no inconsiderable percentage of the population of his own state would be enabled to visit Chicago and the fair if these conditions prevailed, and the difference between the cost of living in this way and the putting up at hotels and boarding houses, he also thinks, would be spent with the merchants and manufacturers. Moreover, those that adopted the camping out plan would, by their long stay, add immensely to the gate receipts. There are a good many things to be said in favor of this scheme, and probably something to be said against it. The collective wisdom of the board of directors, however, will have an opportunity of sitting in judgment upon it some time in the future.

Visitors to Ceylon should be a little cautious in their purchase of the precious stones of the island, as the natives have a trick of changing steep prices for inferior gems. The current value of the jewels found does not exceed $20,000, but the value of the mines is enormously out of proportion. Cat's eyes and opalize, which admit of little imitation, are the stones to buy.

M. L. DE COURSEY,

Real Estate, Investments and Loans.

FOR SALE.

1. The magnificent business property southwest corner Pike's Peak and Nevada avenues, in the exact heart of the city being at the point where the original four wards come together. This property has a frontage of over 150 feet on Nevada avenue and 100 feet on Pike's Peak avenue, and has 44 feet on the alley to the city clerk's office. Inside of two years this corner will be as good as the corner of Pike's Peak and Tejon streets for business purposes, if not better, for it fronts on two 140 feet avenues and being more centrally located commands the situation, and I will sell it for one-third the price that will buy the other. Meanwhile the improvements on it pay the taxes and leave a handsome surplus.
2. The equally splendid residence property on North Tejon street, fronting 400 feet on the Rapid Transit line, running from Willamette avenue to Monument street, with a depth of 192 feet to a 31 feet alley, in a most desirable neighborhood. One half the frontage on Tejon street and the 190 ft frontage on Willamette avenue is bordered with ten-year old maple and locust trees. I will sell this grand property, if taken at once, for $35,000. Compare this with the corner one fourth the size in Shook's Run bottom, which the school board was so glad to get for $8800, and you will see it is very cheap.
3. I have a large block of desirable property, consisting of lots improved and unimproved, which, while a good deal of money is required to handle it, I will sell for just one half its real worth at market prices. The improvements yield a very fair return over and above the taxes, and within two years the property should be sold at a profit of at least 100 per cent for anyone who will invest in it now. This is really a big thing, and I will be glad to show it to anyone who means "business." None others need apply.
4. A choice business corner on Huerfano street, 75 by 190 feet. A first class location for a warehouse, a grain and feed store, or a large blacksmithing establishment, which will catch all the trade entering town from the west. Or it would be just the corner for a forwarding and commission house, a coal and lumber and wood yard, or a stone and marble yard; large enough to show and keep stock properly, and convenient for shipping via several lines of railroad. This is a great property for someone who has the money with which to buy it, and the business requiring such a location.

BIG LITTLE BARGAINS.

1. THE GREATEST BARGAIN IN THE CITY, without exception. A three room brick house on a corner lot, 50x167 feet, city water, barn, chicken house, etc., in Loomis' addition—ONLY $850. FIRST COME FIRST SERVED. The lot alone is worth almost the money.
2. Five lots corner Kiowa and Spruce streets each 38 feet frontage on the rapid transit line, just four blocks from Antlers hotel. To quick buyers $100 to $400 each. Great bargains.
3. Two fine lots on Washington avenue, close to town, for $1475, or $700 for one lot. Terms half cash, balance two years at 8 per cent. A snap for somebody.
4. A corner lot 50x190 feet, facing south, on Colorado avenue, in West Colorado Springs, for $900. Everyone knows this will soon be worth much more money.

PARRISH'S ADDITION.

1. A lot 50x190 feet, on Kiowa street east of Chestnut, for $750. Inferior lots in inferior locations are selling for $1000.
2. Corner 100 by 135 feet on Platte avenue, $1200.
3. Corner 100 by 190 feet on Bijou street, $1400.
4. Corner 50 by 190 feet on Kiowa street, $850.
5. Corner 50 by 100 feet on Bijou street, $600.
6. Corner 100 by 190 feet on Pike's Peak avenue, $1800.
7. Inside lots on Pike's Peak and Platte avenues and on Kiowa and Bijou streets, from $500 to $1200, according to size and location.

Lots in West End Addition, Walnut Addition, Orin's Addition, Hill Addition, D. Rye's Wood Addition, Lawson's Addition, North End Addition, Howard's Addition, La Veglia, Colorado City, Manitou, Calvert Heights, and in the great resort, Broadmoor.

COUNTRY ESTATES.

1. I am authorized to offer for sale, for a short time, the charming country residence and estate, so well and favorably known as Ridge Farm, containing 159 acres of enclosed land, only ten miles north of town on a good wagon road. This place is subdivided into four fields, and twenty acres under cultivation. No irrigation is required, good crops of grain and potatoes being raised without it. The improvements consist of a hand painted house of five rooms and bath room with hot and cold water, water being furnished from a force pump set in the fine springs which abound on the property. There is a barn 30x40, barn with 5 box stalls, carriage, feed and chicken houses, room for ten tons of hay; root house, dairy house, ice house containing 12 tons of pure ice, cut from pond covering an acre of ground near the house; water fourteen feet drop from the springs, ever flowing and pure. There is one spring 8 feet deep, of iron and sulphur water. Also a concrete reservoir holding 20,000 ft. The residence is insured for $4000. I can't think of a more desirable place for the money than has been expended in the improvements upon it. Somebody can make a fortune running it as a resort for invalids or invalids. It can be kept full all the time. The owner wishes to practice his profession in the city, or he would not think of selling.
2. Blair Athol! Unequaled for grandeur and beauty of scenery; [illegible] surroundings; remarkable freaks of nature in stone and [illegible]; lovely to visit; a second GLEN EYRIE. Anyone wishing a home surrounded by [illegible] in the wildest, grandest, weirdest, most awe-inspiring, and at the same time the most lovely forms, can here find it.

A DONATION.

I will give, free of cost, to any [illegible] that will [illegible] thereon, sufficient ground at "Fishermen's Park," two miles from this city, for the purposes of a Sanitarium, Summer Resort, Hotel, or other institution of public character, which will attract people and public attention to the locality, provided such institutions or establishments be of first class character and be backed by sufficient means. CORRESPONDENCE SOLICITED.

It is the McKinley boll rather than William McKinley who is posing for the endorsement of the people of Ohio. It is poor generalship to force a fight in such a weakened position.

The United States will not alone occupy the position of possessor of a wheat surplus in the markets of the world. India's crop is said to be remarkably fine, and it will certainly come into competition with American grain.

It is with regret that we learn that the Commonwealth magazine is to be removed from Denver to Chicago, from which city the next number will be issued. Such a magazine is in the nature of an educational institution, not only in the influence which it exerts upon its readers, but also in the stimulus which it affords to careful writing and close thinking. The Commonwealth has been highly creditable and beneficial to the state, and it is unfortunate that circumstances should have made this removal necessary. We feel sure that so far as ability and good taste can command success The Commonwealth may be assured of it in its new home.

An illustration of the way in which additions are being made to the material wealth of the state is to be found in Garfield county. According to the census population there were only 4463 inhabitants. Few counties of the state are better off as regards material resources, yet the past two years have been dull because there has not been local trade sufficient to warrant a development of mines and the establishment of manufactories. But this state of things will not long continue. During the last year 182 pre emption claims were proved up in the county, making an addition to the assessed valuation of over $300,000 from this source alone. A per capita tax of $120 in the increased valuation in a single year is remarkable, but double the amount could be easily made if the facts were known.

The credit of the state, as well as of the leading cities, has been visibly improving since the last general election. One or two more schemes on the gang coining at, and the city of "a million borough" will no more be raised.

Indictments Grew Out of Politics.

From the Telluride Journal

District Attorney Stevens on Monday nolle pros'd eight indictments for bribery found by the grand jury of Arapahoe county against Otto Moore and others, and by this action squashed what from its inception was nothing but an attempt to humiliate the character of some of the ablest men in the state. The indictments grew out of the passion and heat of the contest for the speakership of the late legislature and should have been a travesty upon justice should the accused have been arraigned before the courts to satisfy the venomous spite of defeated politicians. We congratulate Mr. Moore and his friends upon the unflinching manner with which they met the charges, and the honorable acquittal which has followed.

Color to Mormons.

Denver Republican.

If the Gentile inhabitants of Wyoming should offer any objection to the immigration of Mormons into that state they would be making a mistake. The fact that fifty families of Mormons have recently settled in the eastern part of Wyoming is a good thing. It is good for Wyoming, because the new settlers will open up a country which, were it not for them, might be idle for many years. It is good, also, for Idaho and Utah, whence these Mormons have come. If the Mormon population of Utah and Idaho were distributed over the whole of the western country the Mormon question would be settled. Colorado has nothing to fear from its Mormon population, for the number is not great enough to have an appreciable effect upon public sentiment or upon legislation, and polygamy is not practiced here.

World's Fair Arrangements.

Chicago, June 17.—Every state and territory in the union was given space at Jackson park today for a building at the World's Fair. Thirty acres lying in the improved part of Jackson park, between Fifty-sixth and Fifty-eighth streets, will be devoted to these state buildings. In some cases less than half an acre has been given for the buildings, while in others the amount is much greater. This assignment of space to the states is final. The buildings of foreign governments will spread over seventeen acres to the north. Generally speaking the states have been grouped with reference to their geographical positions. In the grouping the Eastern states have been put together, and so have the Southern, Middle, Western and Pacific states.

At a meeting of gentlemen representing every horticultural society in Illinois held here this afternoon, resolutions were adopted protesting against the appointment of Wm. G. Fox as the chief of the horticultural department of the World's Fair, and demanding a change of the classification in that department. The chief objection to Mr. Forsythe is that he comes from California and would be very liable to carry out M. H. DeYoung's scheme by which the wine growers will get more than their share of space in the horticultural building.

Coal Gas in a Jail.

New York, June 17.—There was a scene of excitement at Yonkers this morning when all the prisoners in the cells at the police headquarters were found unconscious. The gas had escaped during the night from a broken pipe and had stifled the prisoners. The odor was overpowering. The prisoners were quickly removed to the open air by a number of citizens who rushed in to aid the roundsmen. One of the prisoners revived and managed to escape during the excitement. The other men were taken to the station house. At least five of them will die.

New York Stock Market.

New York, June 17.—The stock market opened firm, prices dropping after the first few minutes to noon, when they were ¼@1 per cent below yesterday's closing. Sugar was the most prominent stock, breaking 3¼ on sales of 600 shares. During the afternoon the market was extremely dull and generally lower, but on small business. Rumors were current that the stock of the United States would be taken off the list and that there would be a call. French banking firms had ordered $5,000,000 in gold for export by Saturday, but up to the close of business yesterday no gold was withdrawn. The engagements were generally at or near the head of the day.

COLLEGE GRADUATES

[illegible] genius, even as the great master of the Eternal [illegible] all that is touched into precious metal.

The present offers the student two sides of education, the modern and the classic, the sciences and the humanities. Ever since the Prussian method was given to the world the interest in science has steadily increased, until now there is danger of neglecting the classic side. Each kind of education as [illegible] alone makes a one sided man [illegible] is neglected.

[illegible] country today the student means [illegible] progress. [illegible] that is best in the past, and has [illegible] opportunity [illegible] progress.

[illegible] growth of our modern [illegible] the enfranchisement of our intellectual [illegible] and gives us minds that fall [illegible] with the mastery of slaves. We profit by all the past has done, the science, factors [illegible] of freedom, intellectual, spiritual and political, all multiplied by millions and [illegible] by the efforts of all Golden [illegible] of future possibilities opening. In [illegible] equipment is a duty to be [illegible] and to hand the spirit of the time [illegible] problems yet to be solved there are [illegible] to ourselves and the age. Every [illegible] of tendency, attitude and inclination [illegible] by the diversity of occupations, [illegible] of knowledge, and of fields of investigation. [illegible] general standard are still needed to [illegible] all that is best. New ideals are [illegible] that shall typify an age which yet lacks [illegible] expression. When we consider [illegible] of man, and of institutions [illegible] We are very far from perfection, and [illegible] each period of history is a period of development. We read of the brutal traits [illegible] stage, their ignorance and their superstition, how they made bloodshed and death a pastime, and we can still discover the same tendencies, only more refined and better controlled. Along the avenue of progress we march toward the high destiny of the race. Evolution is the law both of Spencer and of Hegel. Every struggle of an earnest soul gives impetus to the movement.

To know the processes and history of inorganic nature, to trace the growth of worlds and know their movements, and minute the starry hosts, to study the structure and development of all organic life, to know the manifold laws of mathematics, to live amid the deeds of men of all ages, to imbibe their noblest thoughts, to stand in the presence of the problems of the minute, make a mere animal man almost a god, elevate him to and the realization of the great possibilities of his being.

Moreover, education trains the powers through knowledge. The power to observe accurately the world of beauty and wonder; the power to re-combine and modify in infinite kaleidoscopic forms the percepts and images of the mind, making possible all progress; the power to elaborate, verify and [illegible] dare; the power to feel the greatness of truth, the rythm and harmonies of the world and the beauty of the forms; the power to [illegible] and feel the right; the power to [illegible] one's self in pursuit of the best; these are worth more than mere practical acquisitions and mere knowledge, for they make possible all acquisition and growth and energy.

The arguments for so-called practical education are fallacious, whenever the nature, [illegible] and possibilities of the pupil will enable him to develop anything more than the mere beginning capabilities. When one knows the line of mathematics, his knowledge can be applied in the art of bookkeeping with a medium effort. Bookkeeping is one incident in the line of mathematical study. A year in a school of general education, even to the prospective clerk or merchant, should be worth ten times the year spent in practice of mechanical processes. United States history is valuable to an American youth, but while with one view Americans in the forefront of the march of progress, there is another view in which our century of history is only an odd; in the great [illegible] of historical events. The present can be understood only historically, and the [illegible] elements of our civilization should be [illegible] in the light of the world's history.

Not only should we adhere to our faith in university education, but we can find reasons for raising the standard of a part of university work. Even now, no student should receive a professional degree who has not previously obtained at least a high school education; and the time may come when [illegible] years of college work will be required [illegible] basis for a doctor's or a lawyer's degree. [illegible] courses are becoming a prominent feature of some institutions, and in time a [illegible] may be sought as an A. B. has been in the past. As the race advances, the preparation for active life will necessarily engage [illegible]

Many know but little of the forces that [illegible] the world. Material progress does not [illegible] the spirit of the age, but the spirit of the age makes material progress. The outward works of man are a result of the promptings of the inner spirit. It is the spirit of a nation that wins battles, the spirit of a nation that makes inventions, [illegible] ideals and the world would be [illegible]. It is spirit that makes the difference between the American soldier fighting for liberty, and the Hessian hireling or the [illegible] Italian condottieri who played at war for the highest bidder. Here is the difference between a slave and a freeman, between the [illegible] of old countries and the free [illegible]

A man makes a labor-saving invention, and the ease and luxury of physical living are increased, and men bless the inventor and proclaim that the practical man is the [illegible] man, who is of use to the world. Another gives to the world a thought—it may be a great work of art, a song or a philosophy, and it takes possession of them and becomes an incentive to noble living, and the [illegible] has truly progressed. Let the spirit [illegible] our people die out and all material prosperity would perish.

What is called contemptuously "bookcourting," the education of young men in the schools, helps to preserve and increase [illegible] and transmit all the discoveries and the best thoughts of past generations. The student is likely to be a man of [illegible] of ideals, and hence he is the great [illegible] of the world.

There is a glory of the present and a glory of the past. The glory of the past was its culture, its art, its examples of greatness. [illegible] retain the glory of the ancient civilization and add to it the nobler [illegible] of the practical spirit of the present. Then [illegible] we have a civilization surpassing any previous one. Let us not only tunnel our mountains for outlets to our great trans-continental railway systems, but let us also find [illegible] among these ranges and domes and [illegible] some sacred grottos. Let us not [illegible] for our peaks for gold and silver, but let there some Parnassus, sacred to the [illegible] whom we shall learn to invoke not in [illegible]

[illegible] I will venture to characterize the American student of the near future? He will [illegible] be a recluse, nor will he wholly [illegible] the body for the culture of the mind. [illegible] be a man of the world, a man of [illegible], on the one hand not disregarding the [illegible] of wealth, and on the other not [illegible] material possessions and sensuous [illegible] the better part of life—He will [illegible] influence in politics and in the solution [illegible] all social problems. His ideals will be [illegible] somewhat in the light of their [illegible]. He will know the laws of nature [illegible] to use them, and will find the [illegible] of approach to men's motives. He [illegible] will add more of work to faith. He [illegible] a high growth of self by regarding [illegible] of others, instead of worship[illegible] solely at the shrine of his own [illegible]. The scientific knowledge of [illegible] materials and forces and the skill to [illegible] will invite a larger class of minds [illegible] the coming student will take on [illegible] the traits of the ideal man of affairs [illegible] what exists much to the world. The [illegible] is too intelligent to be [illegible] of hope [illegible]. He [illegible] of the political demagogue. [illegible] know the force of ideas and the [illegible] he should be too wise to fall [illegible] enough of pure materialism.

LITERATURE OF THIS CENTURY.

[illegible] standing its practical tendencies, [illegible] is not wanting in the highest [illegible]. It has given us the universal [illegible] and sympathy of Goethe, whose [illegible] Carlyle describes as "a thousand [illegible] of wisdom;" he thus contrasts [illegible] Goethe catch the music of the [illegible] and unfold it into clearness, and in [illegible] tones bring it home to the [illegible]

[illegible] has recorded the grandest effort of thought through Hegel, and [illegible] wonderful expounder of certain [illegible] in Spencer. Each has exhausted a great philosophy, both giants in [illegible] they greatly influence the [illegible] of the age, and become co-workers [illegible] investigation of many-sided truth. [illegible] Carlyle in the midst of this [illegible] and seemingly unpoetic age, and [illegible] at an age of romance, inspired [illegible] the beauty of the genuine [illegible] of creation, the grandeur of [illegible] life. Wordsworth, nature's priest, [illegible] her forms and moods with finest [illegible] and finds them expressive of divine [illegible]. He looks quite through material [illegible] and feels

"A sense sublime
Of something far more deeply interfused,
Whose dwelling is the light of setting suns,
And the round ocean, and the living air,
And the blue sky, and in the mind of man;
A motion and a spirit, that impels
All thinking things, all objects of all thought,
And rolls through all things."

[illegible] Emerson to this generation [illegible] says "Hitch your wagon to a star," [illegible] thousands give to rise superior to [illegible] rank and habit, into the dignity of a free and finished education, and urging them to seek the highest attainments in the service of the good and true in life, and to use their talents for the upholding of right and morality in the land and for the elevation of humanity in general. The [illegible] explaining to them the nature of the high honor about to be conferred upon them, the rank and privileges that it would accord them, he stated it afforded him great pleasure to present to them their well [illegible] which by vote of the [illegible] conferred upon them. [illegible] of Rochester of Pueblo [illegible] the degree conferred upon [illegible] each merit, in and graceful [illegible] for the honor conferred [illegible] and [illegible] their degrees.

President Slocum opened the ten days [illegible] exercises, and then a large number of the students and friends of the graduates [illegible] Rochester the [illegible] and [illegible] of approval [illegible] and all took their departure, having [illegible] that the commencement week was [illegible] of very unusually high merit and [illegible] that the institution of higher learning is worthy and demands the highest [illegible] and [illegible] support of the progressive Colorado Springs.

MANITOU SPRINGS.

The tourist seeking scenic beauties will find no place about Manitou that surpasses Williams' canon. Yesterday morning a party from the Barker started on a jaunt up the canon. There were no timid persons in the party and the sign just above the Cave of the Winds reading "Danger! Beware of rolling and flying rocks. Your life is in peril!" did not even affect a change in the conversation, much less the bounding spirits of the young folks, who threaded the narrow path toward a charming bit of falling water which lay three-quarters of a mile beyond. The tramp, which took in many a side trip up the steep mountain side and over the brook after a rare flower on a glittering rock, was exhilarating, and when the falling waters and cooling shade of a near nook was reached the effect was so soothing and restful that one of the brawny young men was sent back for a lunch, and the little crowd proceeded to make a day of it. They climbed the crags, explored huge crevices, splashed water, sang songs and undoubtedly made the welkin (whatever a welkin is) ring with their shouts. One of the gentlemen was so unfortunate as to be an amateur photographer, and his time did not hang heavy. On beyond the falls the canon is comparatively level, and is a tangled mass of sweet smelling undergrowth, which springs from a soil heavy with dead and decayed leaves, plants and woods. The little stream rolls sluggishly along preparatory to its grand plunge, and will flow one of the most rare variety, such as are found no place else about Manitou, and to the brook and the birds, wasting their wealth of color in the shadow of the pines, far removed from the hand of all save the most venturesome climbers. The party which was chaperoned by Mrs. Charles S. Davis, was composed of Miss Focke, Miss Lovell, Miss Hazelwood, Dr. Summers, Mr. Lovell, Mr. O'Hern, Mr. Focke, Mr. Sumner and Mr. Brown.

Mrs. E. W. Shaw and Mr. Stephen G. Shaw, well known Denver people, who spend a considerable portion of each summer in Manitou, are at the Cliff.

Mrs. E. Bottomly, Mr. R. Gibson, Mrs. R. West and Mr. J. Bryant made the summit of the peak on foot the first of the week.

Mrs. Harry Nelke of Quincy and Mrs. A. Jocke of San Antonio will chaperone a party of resorters to "Lend Me Your Wife."

Pike's Peakers report a great amount of snow, due to the late storm.

The Barker house waiters defeated the Cliff house waiters at base ball Tuesday. The score was 13 to 8.

Mr. S. N. Nye was showing Mr. John J. Slavin, traveling passenger agent of the Santa Fe, over the resort yesterday morning.

Manitou's representative at Salt Lake this spring Mr. A. W. Thayer, has returned. He reports travel light.

Count A. von Neuville, Frankfort-on-the-Main, is registered at the Cliff.

Roland Reed.

Roland Reed's engagement at the opera house Friday and Saturday evenings promises to be a very successful one, judging by the advance sale of seats. His appearance next Saturday evening in "Lend Me Your Wife" will be the last performance he will give this season. A Denver paper says: Roland Reed, at the Tabor Grand drew the largest audiences of the week with his play "Lend Me Your Wife." The title of this last addition to his repertoire is enough in itself to excite considerable curiosity. It is but one, and perhaps the most successful of the many English adaptions of the French play "Peter Ant a Femme," and succeeding as it does in its endeavor to hold up to ridicule the custom of willing money, on condition of marriage, the situations and complications are most laughable in their absurdity, while the bright clever dialogue adds greatly to the amusement. The part of Captain Abner Talbot was admirably adapted to the talent of Mr. Reed, and he portrayed it with the energy and skill that has marked all his previous characterizations. Miss Isadore Rush made a charming Bessie Bunting, while the support accorded Mr. Reed by Mr. Harry A. Sullivan Dick Easily, and Mr. William C. Andrews as Tom Bunting, was good.

Shenandoah.

"Shenandoah" will have its second production at the opera house next Tuesday, where it will be presented by the original New York cast, scenery and effects, which have characterized its success all over the English speaking world. Mr. Bronson Howard, the author, has received more in royalties for this one piece than has been the entire profits of notable productions. Mr. Howard has the distinction of holding at present the position of America's leading dramatist, as "The Henrietta," "The Banker's Daughter," "Young Mrs. Winthrop," "One of Our Girls" and "Saratoga" plainly show. Mr. Howard has undoubtedly furnished the stage of the United States with several of the pronounced successes of modern days. He knows with what theatre goers are best pleased and provides it in a most satisfactory way. You are not startled by any great dramatic finish in "Shenandoah." You are charmed into a sense of complete forgetfulness of your surroundings. The walls of the theatre melt away in the undulating, autumn-tinted hills which surround the beautiful valley of "Shenandoah" and the paint and canvas of the scenery lose their artificiality, while the decorations overhead have given place to the blue sky. The characters of the stage, too, have become alive and prove reality and their doings concern you as much as if you yourself were one of their party and your life's happiness depended upon the result of their efforts.

THE GAZETTE.

THURSDAY, JUNE 18, 1891.

Hon. W. H. Brisbane, ex-state treasurer, is in the city.

"Cradle Songs of the Nations" at the Opera house to-night.

Mayor Sprague has been elected president of the state Sunday school convention.

Hon. Hugh Butler of Denver was a visitor in the city yesterday attending district court.

The funeral of Adam Paster will occur from the residence, 425 E. Huerfano street, at 3 o'clock this afternoon.

Mr. Thos. Hext was the winner of the Knights of Pythias gold medal presented to the best drilled man in line in their last prize drill.

The Colorado Springs Aid Society is in need of infants' clothing, for which there is a large demand. Donations should be left at the society's headquarters.

Tickets may be had of the young people of the Presbyterian church for the entertainment this evening. They are exchangeable at the opera house for reserved seats.

There will be a social in the parlor of the Christian church Friday evening, at which Mrs. Lowther's class of the Sunday school will serve ice cream, cake and strawberries. All are invited to be present.

Professor Chapman, who has been during the past year the instructor of elocution at the college, leaves to-day for Kansas City. He will spend his summer in that place and in traveling in the east, and will probably return to his position in the college in the fall.

Troop A of the Colorado National Guards will take part in the great battle scene during the performance of "Shenandoah" at the opera house Tuesday evening. The boys will be under command of Captain Sorton, who had experience during the civil war.

Mr. N. E. Guyot and Mr. J. S. McCain were visiting Manitou business men yesterday in the interest of the resort. They propose to give Manitou the eighth page of a special edition of their paper, the Pueblo World, to be distributed at the palace on the opening days. Both are agreeable gentlemen.

The Colorado Springs Rapid Transit Railway company has just issued a series of coupon tickets between Colorado Springs and the Half-Way house, on the line of the Pike's Peak railway, making the fare from this city the same as from Manitou. The price for the round trip is $2.50, which includes the transfer bus ride between stations. These tickets are sold on sale at Robinson's, Van Petten's and Stoner's drug stores.

The game of ball between the Duncans and Stillman Giants at Athletic Park yesterday was attended by a fair-sized audience and resulted in a victory for the Giants. Deane, pitcher for the Duncans, did some fine work in the early part of the game, striking out fifteen men, but in the last two innings was evidently a little rattled, as the Giants succeeded in getting in eight runs in these two innings. For the Giants, Dobbs behind the bat took off most of the honors. The score was ten to twelve.

A concert was given at Durkee hall last evening by Madam Millard Boston. About 100 persons were present, mostly complimentaries, and nearly all were drawn there through curiosity. The most curious must have been satisfied with the pitiful scene. A local musician played the overture from "Robin Hood" and a traveling man stopping in the city gave two numbers on the violin very well, and Madam Mills sang a number of light ballads in a weak voice and displayed but little skill. The larger portion of the audience was composed of women, and many of them were much affected when they realized what a pitiful spectacle they were witnessing. At the close two or three couples waltzed to the music of the piano, a second concert being announced for next week.

Reception to the Graduates.

Yesterday afternoon the reception of President Slocum to the college graduates and friends of the institution was held at his house between 3 and 6 o'clock. The reception was largely attended. During the three hours of its duration the rooms were filled with college students and with many ladies of the city. In the dining room ices and refreshments were served. Those who assisted the President and Mrs. Slocum in receiving were Mrs. W. W. Arnold, Mrs. Geo. H. De La Vergne, Mrs. Hastings and the college graduates.

Card of Thanks.

COLORADO SPRINGS, June 18, 1891.

We take this method of tendering our heartfelt thanks to the many friends, especially Marshal Dana and the police department, Myrtle lodge Knights of Pythias and the good women of the city for their love and sympathy in our great affliction.

JOHN W. CHAPMAN.
MARY CHAPMAN.

An Inexpensive Trip.

One of the most pleasant places to spend a day in admiration of nature's grandeur is up the Eleven mile canon. Everyone will be given an opportunity of spending a day there on the occasion of the Matt Parker Hose company's excursion next Sunday. The previous excursions given by this company have proved to be very successful it is fair to count on this one being the most popular the boys have ever given. They are working hard to make all who go with them have a whole day of enjoyment. Arrangements have been made by which the special train will stop in the canon two hours, giving all plenty of time for a picnic dinner, and a chance to rest by climbing the massive walls of the canon. On returning the train will stop at Florissant, Woodland Park and Green Mountain Falls, one hour. Tickets for round trip only $2.00, and are to be obtained from members of the company.

OMAHA-KANSAS CITY.

Omaha, Neb., June 18.—Hits by Hallman and Griffin and errors by Carpenter and Stearns gave Omaha five runs in the first. Five hits, two bases on balls and a home run caused five Kansas City men to cross the plate in the sixth. With the exception of those two innings today's game was one of the most brilliant ever seen on the home grounds. Score: Omaha, 7; Kansas City, 6.

MINNEAPOLIS-DULUTH.

Minneapolis, Minn., June 18.—The St. Paul team became Duluth to day, and lost a pretty game to Minneapolis by the rain. The fielding on both sides was sharp. Merquard carried off the honors. Score: Minneapolis, 7; Duluth, 6.

National League.

CLEVELAND-CHICAGO.

Cleveland, June 18.—Gruber threw away an opportunity to win today's game by allowing Chicago to score five runs in the seventh after two men were out. Virtue's all around playing was the feature. Score: Cleveland 8; Chicago 12.

At New York—Philadelphia game postponed.

At Boston—No game today.

Gaulan Gifts.

Baltimore, Md., June 18.—A special from Hagerstown, Md., says that Daniel Shiffler, a farmer of Locust Grove, found a package of flour and another of coffee near his house last Saturday. He gave the articles to Mrs. McKittrick, who used them and her entire family was made sick. One of the children died and another can hardly recover. The other members of the family are all right again. A post mortem showed that poison had been mixed with the flour. It is thought the poisoned articles were intended for some enemy of Mr. Shiffler's for his family. The police are investigating the affair.

Michigan Railway Legislation.

Lansing, Mich., June 18.—The legislature has practically agreed through a conference committee to the following provisions for the Richardson bill increasing the specific tax upon the gross earnings of railroad companies: The rate on earning not in excess of $200 per mile is 2 per cent., the same as under the pres nt law. $400, 2½ per cent.; $600, 3 per cent.; $800, 4 per cent. The estimated increase is $188,000. Three roads operating in the state are exempt under its provisions.

Slavin and Sullivan Will Fight.

New York, June 18.—John L. Sullivan telegraphed from San Jose, Calif., tonight his willingness to meet Slavin for $10,000 a side and the highest purse that any club will offer, the fight to take place on the return of Sullivan from Australia, three months hence. Slavin sails for England on Saturday. At 1 a. m. this (Friday) morning Slavin announced that if Sullivan would forego his trip to Australia he (Slavin) would defer his return to England and prepare to meet the Boston man at once.

Bulls in the Wheat Fields.

Kansas City, June 18.—The reports from Kansas to the grain men of this city are very discouraging. The wet weather is making the outlook very gloomy. Z. D. Smith, one of the best known grain men of the city, said this morning that if the bad reports were confirmed the estimate for Kansas wheat would have to be cut down to 55,000,000 bushels instead of 80,000,000 bushels it was expected to raise.

A Governmental Defeat.

London, June 18.—The government met a defeat today on the question of factory labor. Mr. Sydney Burton, Liberal, of London, has offered an amendment to the factory bill, to prevent children under 13 years of age from working in factories. The government opposed the amendment, which was carried, however, by a vote of 202 to 188, several conservatives voting with the majority.

A Glorious Yacht.

New York, June 18.—The regatta of the New York Athletic club was sailed today in a gale. A heavy sea was also running, but the Glorana, Mr. Morgan's new boat, proved herself a wonder and showed that she can sail in any weather, she easily won in her class, beating her nearest follower, the Jessica, eleven minutes. The winners in the other classes were the Marguerite and Katrina.

The Jury Could Not Agree.

Chicago, June 18.—The jury in the case of Statesenator Solomon Van Praag, on trial in the federal court on a charge of subornation of perjury in the procurement of naturalization papers for aliens, came into this court this morning and reported that they were unable to agree upon a verdict. The jury was discharged.

Lynchers Tried.

Walla Walla, Wash., June 18.—The trial of the seven soldiers charged with the killing of A. J. Hunt April 24th, began in the superior court yesterday. Six of the soldiers will be tried together. Dr. McMennamin has been granted a separate trial. The jury was secured in the afternoon and the trial of the six men opened.

An Eventful Voyage.

Boston, June 18.—The bark Crescent arrived today after an eventful voyage. In the early part of May her crew was stricken with lagriberi and the vessel put in Barbados. Three of the crew died at that port of the disease. The vessel succeeded in getting a new crew and sailed for Boston June 11.

Dore Dunn's Decision.

New York, June 18.—Jack Dunn, referee in the Slavin-Kilrain glove contest, rendered his formal decision tonight. He awards the fight to Slavin, but declared that Kilrain was not knocked out. Bets that the contest would not last ten rounds are won, because the winner is declared after the fourteenth round had been contested. Dunn says that Time Keeper Daly made an unfortunate mistake after the gong got out of order by not calling out from his watch by which he was timing the seconds that elapsed when Kilrain was down in the ninth round. He then states that he considers himself equally at fault in not keeping his eyes toward the center of the ring at the time, in order to see for himself how quickly Kilrain got up. He explains the fact that his back was toward Kilrain by saying that he felt it his duty, on account of Slavin's method of fighting, to watch the Australian to prevent him from fouling. Dunn states that Slavin always showed a desire to go in and slug Kilrain the instant he arose. The referee put himself on record as being against Slavin had he committed that act in the ninth round. As Kilrain is practically beaten, the referee did not like to decide against the foreigner on the ground of a foul, so he decided in energy toward keeping Slavin in his corner rather than standing off and watching both men.

Car Accountants Excursion.

Salina, Colo., June 18.—The special train of ten Pullman cars which left Denver this morning with 200 members of the International Car Accountants association and their friends arrived here tonight in charge of B. S. Jocelyn, chief of the car accountant department of the Rio Grande road on a three days' tour of the principal points of interest in the state. Owing to Mr. Jocelyn's efforts the trip today was a delightful one. The train arrived at Manitou at 11 o'clock, a longer hour was spent visiting Cheyenne and the various springs. Dinner was had at Pueblo, and at Canon City observation cars were attached to the train for the entire party. At the hanging bridge in the Grand canon a stop of twenty minutes was made to allow the excursionists to inspect this wonderful piece of engineering and to view the scenery at this point which is without a doubt the finest in the canon. The party reached here at 7:30 and will remain in their cars over night. To-morrow they will cross Marshall pass, return here, and then to Leadville, where the night will be spent.

The Brule Commission.

Rosebud City, S. D., June 18.—Advices from Pine Ridge agency state that the commission for the transfer of the Brules held a session with some 600 Brules Wednesday. The Brules said they wished to remain at Pine Ridge. The matter rests entirely with the Ogallallas now and their further vote is required to effect the change. The Ogallallas want a portion of the lands transferred, but the commissioners would not assent to this. Blue Horse made a lengthy speech in which he said that the Indians wanted to be free to go and come like white men. He declared that all the commissions of the past twenty-six years had effected nothing, and that their speeches sent to the great father were thrown into some corner or into the stove. Young-Man-Afraid-of-His-Horse said a clear understanding must be had. No conclusion has been reached, but it is probable that the transfer will be arranged.

An Important Mining Suit.

Denver, June 18.—A glance into Judge Rising's court room this morning would have reminded spectators of a glimpse of the town of Aspen. A photograph of the famous Aspen mountain and a plat depicting some of its great mines were exhibited with startling accuracy. They will play an important part in the trial which began this morning in the case of the Little Giant vs. the Bonny Bell, two of Aspen's wealthiest mining companies. The suit is for non-performance of contract on the part of the Bonny Bell people. It is practically impossible to determine how much money is involved. Some years ago the Bonny Bell company applied for a patent on their grounds and were opposed by the Little Giant company. By stipulation of Bonny Bell the latter agreed to patent under the agreement that if the Little Giant would give the Bonny Bell to the patent the Bell company would, as soon as they had secured a title from the United States, deed to the Little Giant a strip of ground agreed upon. Their failure to live up to the contract originated the present suit.

The land in question is on Aspen mountain, contiguous to the famous Durant, Aspen and Emma mines, which have recently produced so enormously.

The controversy has attracted the very best legal talent on both sides. Hugh Butler, H. T. Rogers and Wilson & Stimpson appeared for the plaintiffs, while the Bonny Bell has retained Senator Wolcott, of Wolcott & Vail, and Thomas Bryant & Lee. By agreement, tried by jury was waived and case submitted to Judge Rising.

Western Silver Association.

New York, June 18.—The executive committee of the Western Silver association will meet at the Hoffman house to-morrow morning to discuss free coinage. All the members of the committee are here except the chairman, General Warner, who is expected to arrive in the morning.

A Youthful Criminal.

Atlantic City, N. J., June 18.—Hamilton Turner, the 18-year-old son of a prominent lumber dealer of this city, was this afternoon taken to May's Landing to await trial at the September term of court, on the charge of forging his father's name to a check for $15, the money being used to defray his expenses on a bicycle. [illegible]

A SAILOR'S YARN.

The Montague Capulet Feud of Four Nights Ago.

A DUEL FOUGHT TO THE DEATH.

Rifles Seven Inches Long Were the Weapons and all the Combatants Were Killed The Police Arrive After the Fight.

New York, June 18.—The steam ship Scotia from Portland, of the Wessels line, arrived from Jacmel port this afternoon. Chief Mate J. B. Lowell told the following tale: On the morning of June 12, the Portland touched at Port Marie. Mate Lowell was sent on shore to get the mails. On his way to the post office he came across a crowd of men on the village green. There were about twenty-five of them, and when Mr. Lowell reported what the row was about, they informed him that a battle royal was just about to begin. Four months, all natives of the town had become involved in a sort of Montague Capulet controversy and each of them had made it a point of the conclusion Port Marie and this planet generally was allogether too good a place to harbor the other three any longer. So they mutually decided to fight to the death.

In the centre of the green an enclosure had been roped off and inside of it at each corner stood one of the four contestants. They were stripped to the waist and each man grasped in his right hand a knife with a blade seven inches long.

For a moment the men stood glaring at each other, then the word was given and the fight began. It was a case of every man for himself with a vengeance. Mate Lowell says that without exception it was the most fearful sight he ever saw. In five minutes it was all over. When the police arrived upon the scene, three bodies hacked almost beyond recognition lay inside the ropes. The fourth man was so crazed by his wounds that before the police could lay hands on him he drove his own knife through his heart.

Late Chilian News.

Washington, June 18.—Official mails from Chili received here bring auspicious news from that republic.

The house of deputies has passed a bill authorizing the president to levy a forced loan of $20,000,000 to carry on the war. The measure has not yet passed the senate, however.

Under an order from the executive, carriages are not permitted to drive on the streets of Santiago after midnight under penalty of $50 for the first offense and $200 for the second.

A decree has also been issued prohibiting groups of more than three persons standing together in the streets, squares, or public places of Santiago. Persons guilty of an infringement of this decree will be liable to a fine of $25 to $100. By another decree all the theatres of Santiago are closed until further notice.

Under the authority of congress all the gold and silver in the treasury of Chili, composing what is known as the metallic reserve, was sold at auction on the 15th of May. The coined silver was sold in lots of $500 and upwards and the bar silver in lots of 500 kilogrammes and upwards.

A Ship on Fire.

San Francisco, June 18.—The French ship Valparaiso, which was sighted some days ago, proceeding to this port with a fire in her hold, was towed into port this morning by the tug Relief, which had been sent out to meet her. The vessel was thirty-two days from Valparaiso, with a cargo of 15,000 tons of coal, consigned to Eugene Thomas, of this city. The flames were extinguished, as the 15,000 tons of coal had been jettisoned. The damage by the fire has not been estimated.

Silver Coinage Will Continue.

Washington, June 18.—Secretary Foster, in his speech written for delivery at the Ohio Republican state convention, paid particular attention to the silver question and made a special point in regard to coinage, calling attention to the fact that after July 1st it will be discretionary with the secretary of the treasury whether silver coinage shall be continued or not. A great many suggestions have been offered to the secretary on this particular feature, indicating a strong sentiment against suspending silver coinage on the date named and it is within the range of probability that coinage will be continued after July 1st, for a while at least.

A Wide-Awake Company.

Waterloo, Ia., June 18.—The Illinois Central railway has begun the wholesale discharge of passenger and freight conductors on the four sections of this division centering here. Twenty-nine are said to be marked for dismissal. One of the men discharged had been in the service of the company twenty-five years and two others nearly as long.

No cause is assigned, the men simply being notified that their services are no longer required. It is supposed the cause is the work of snoopers.

Preparing to Open the Cherokee Strip.

St. Louis, June 18.—A dispatch from Ringlaber, I. T., says the first installment of the $20,000 due the Cheyenne and Arapahoe Indians for their lands has arrived and the payment of the Indians will begin at once. It will require nearly a month to complete the payment. After this the allotment of lands to those Indians will be begun. As soon as the allotment is completed the balance, embracing some of the finest land in the territory, consisting of 4,000,000 acres, will be thrown open to settlement.

A Methodist Free Thinker.

Toronto, June 18.—The Methodist conference has suspended Rev. James Thompson for one year for preaching heresy that "that there is no such thing as hell." Mr. Thompson in his sermon expressed the belief that there was no punishment for wrong-doers but annihilation, and that the idea that they would be punished with perpetual fire was illogical and unsupported by scriptural testimony.

Telegraphers Will Amalgamate.

St. Louis, June 18.—The convention of the Order of Railway Telegraphers today voted to eliminate the anti strike clause from their constitution. Mortimer D. Shaw, on behalf of the Brotherhood of Telegraphers, proposed the appointment of a joint committee to prepare a plan for amalgamation. The proposition of the Brotherhood was adopted unanimously.

Weather Indications.

Washington, June 18.—The barometer is higher north of Lake Superior, east of Nova Scotia and on the California coast. It is lowest in Assiniboia and in Illinois and Colorado. Easterly winds with rain prevail in New England and the middle states and in the lake region southerly winds and occasionally light rains and stationary or higher temperature in the south, Atlantic and Gulf states.

Forecast for Colorado Fair; warmer; southerly winds.

The King Murder Trial.

Memphis, Tenn., June 9.—The defense in the King murder trial is making a strenuous effort to establish insanity and it is thought has proved that the defendant, whether attributable to drink or its use, was not in his right mind and irresponsible for the killing of David Foster.

Dr. L. J. Brooks of Paducah, Ky., whom King visited also testifying from Chicago, it was the first Colonel King refused to accept a seat [illegible] at his table while [illegible] judged he was not in his right mind.

GENERAL SCHOFIELD MARRIED

The Commander-in-chief and His Pretty Young Bride.

Kenosha, Wis., June 18.—The marriage of Gen. John M. Schofield, commander-in-chief of the United States army, to Miss Georgia Kilbourne of this city was solemnized at St. John's Episcopal church at Delavan lake today, the Rt. Rev. Charles Chapman, bishop of the diocese, officiating.

The ceremony was quite elaborate for a country place and a large number of guests were present. The church was decorated with flowers and the bride was attended by her mother, Mrs. Kilbourne, and a maid of honor, Miss Ethel Kilbourne, a sister of the bride.

The ceremony was performed by the rector, assisted by the bishop. The bride was attended by her father, David Kilbourne, who gave her in marriage. The groom was attended by his son, Major Frank A. Schofield, of the 2d artillery, stationed at Fort Monroe, who came from Washington to be present at the wedding. The bride's dress was of white satin, with a train and veil, and she carried a bouquet of white lilies of the valley. The bridesmaid wore a white silk dress and carried a bouquet of pink roses.

GEORGIA N. KILBOURNE—GEN. SCHOFIELD.

[illegible] in chief of the United States army, and, in love as in war, his way is to do things without talking about them. He was born in Chautauqua county, N. Y., Sept. 29, 1831, graduated from West Point in 1853, and has risen through all the ranks with phenomenal regularity.

The bride is twenty-six years old, and her father, who died two years ago, was among the oldest and wealthiest citizens of Keokuk. Some years ago her sister, but twenty-two years old, married General Hiram Barney of New York, who he was seventy-two, and the union is reported as an unusually happy one. The romance of the present situation is that Miss Georgia was a favorite of General Schofield's first wife and a very intimate friend of his daughter Mary, acting as bridesmaid when the latter married Lieutenant Andrews of the regular army. David Kilbourne, grandfather of the lady in question, went to Iowa almost as soon as it was open to white settlement, and his sons were very prominent in the era of unsettled land titles and consequent local feuds and the so-called "Mormon war" in 1840-6.

The daughters have been noted from infancy for winning manners, intelligence and vivacity. Georgia especially has traveled a great deal and is witty and socially well equipped. She is of petite and graceful figure, and has a fortune in her own right. The Kilbourne mansion in Keokuk, is a very old and peculiar structure, and is shown to visitors as one of the landmarks, not to say oddities, of the city. General Schofield will hold his place as head of the army till 1895, if so long spared, and will then be entitled to retire on his rank.

Miss Evelyn's Suit.

New York, June 18.—This was the second day's hearing in the appeal of Miss Gladys Evelyn from the judgment pronounced against her in her suit against Mr. William Henry Hurlbert. Counsel for Miss Evelyn read the plaintiff's diary in regard to the ardent letters which she declares were sent to her by Mr. Hurlbert, but which, it was said, were from a person called Wilfred Murray. Miss Evelyn's counsel stated that there was not a shadow of evidence to show that Wilfred Murray ever wrote them.

Killed in a Runaway.

Breckenridge, Colo., June 18.—Yesterday evening while Adam Michler was driving in a funeral procession near this place, his horse became frightened and ran away, throwing Michler out of the carriage. His head struck against a rock, injuring him seriously. He died today. He has relatives in New York.

A Liquor Dealer Hung.

Bridgeport, Conn., June 18. Jacob Schiele was hanged here today for the murder of Constable Drucker. The drop fell at 10:28. Schiele died without a struggle.

The crime for which Schiele was hanged was as follows: On January 23, 1888, Constable Drucker, while attempting to arrest Schiele for violating the license law, was shot by Schiele who had concealed himself in an upper room of his house, and thrust the muzzle of his gun through a window.

New Canaan had no license and a law and order league had been formed to secure the enforcement of the law. Among others who had been prosecuted for selling liquor was Schiele, and upon the day of the crime when Drucker went to the house of the German saloon keeper, the latter had barricaded his saloon, refusing to admit the constable. Drucker then went back to the centre of the village and procured assistance. When they arrived at the house again, they proceeded to the front door. When Drucker was within twenty feet of the house, there was a flash, a loud report and the constable, throwing up his hands, exclaimed: "Brant I'm [illegible]" These words were said to Mr. Brant who had accompanied the constable, and they were the last ever uttered by him. Death followed immediately after.

After shooting Drucker, Schiele held a pistol to his own head and fired a bullet, but the wound did not prove fatal. Ezra H. Hallan, ex-constable, who was with Drucker, then broke into the house and proceeding up stairs found the German lying on the bed. Beside him were the guns with which the shooting was done, a revolver, a hatchet, a jug and a keg boxes of cartridges. Schiele was then arrested and was guarded in his own house for several days while he was suffering from the self-inflicted wounds.

The homicide created great excitement in New Canaan and the indignation of the people against Schiele was unbounded.

A number of threatening letters were found in the house of the murderer in which threats were made against Drucker who Schiele had an idea was persecuting him.

New York Stock Market.

New York, June 18.—The announcement of a settlement of [illegible] the Chicago gas company and the city officials, together with the reduction of the Bank of England's rate of discount from 4 to 3 per cent. had the effect of strengthening the stock market at the opening today and prices advanced ½ to 1 in the early dealings while Chicago gas advanced on the [illegible]. The advance was subsequently more than lost in the general market. Chicago gas maintained nearly all its improvement throughout the morning. According to the statement of the Bank of England made public today the bank's proportion of reserve to the liability is 58.07, against 46.06 last week and 39.06 last year. Bullion in the Bank of England increased this week £62,000 and the reserve increased £61,000. The proportion of reserve to liability has not been so great since 1887. The sale of stocks during the morning amounted to only 89,000 shares.

Military Reservations to be Opened.

Washington, June 18.—Commissioner Carter, of the general land office, today issued an order directing a survey of the Fort Sill action and Montana abandoned military reservations for the purpose of throwing the land open to settlement.

M. L. DeCOURSEY,

Real Estate, Investments and Loans.

FOR SALE.

1. The magnificent business property, southwest corner Pike's Peak and Nevada avenues, in the exact heart of the city, being at the point where the original four wards come together. This property has a frontage of over 150 feet on Nevada avenue, and 100 feet on Pike's Peak avenue, and has 44 feet on the alley by the city clerk's office. Inside of two years this corner will be as good as the corner of Pike's Peak and Tejon streets for business purposes, if not better, for it fronts on two 100 feet avenues, and being more centrally located commands the attention; and I will sell it for one third the price that will buy the other. Meanwhile the improvements on it pay the taxes and leave a handsome surplus.

2. The equally splendid residence property on North Tejon street, fronting 100 feet on the Rapid Transit line, running from Willamette avenue to Monument street, with a depth of 190 feet to a 20 feet alley, in a most desirable neighborhood. One half the frontage on Tejon street and the 190 ft. frontage on Willamette avenue is bordered with ten-year old maple and locust trees. I will sell this grand property, if taken at once, for $35,000. Compare this with the corner, one fourth the size, in Shook's Run bottom, which the school board was so glad to get for $[illegible] and you will see it is very cheap.

3. I have a large block of desirable property, consisting of lots improved and unimproved, which, while a good deal of money is required to handle it, I will sell for just one half its real worth at market prices. The improvements yield a very fair return over and above the taxes, and within two years the property should be sold at a profit of at least 100 per cent. for anyone who will invest in it now. This is really a big thing, and I will be glad to show it to anyone who means "business." None others need apply.

4. A choice business corner on Huerfano street, 50 by 190 feet. A first class location for a warehouse, a grain and feed store, or a large blacksmithing establishment, which will catch all the trade entering town from the west. Or it would be just the corner for a forwarding and commission house, a coal and lumber and wood yard, or a stone and marble yard; large enough to show and keep stock properly, and convenient for shipping via several lines of railroad. This is a great property for someone who has the means with which to buy it, and the business requiring such a location.

BIG LITTLE BARGAINS.

1. The greatest bargain in the city, without exception. A three room brick house on a corner lot, 50x167 feet; city water, barn, chicken house, etc., in Lennie's addition only $650. First come first served. The lot alone is worth almost the money.

2. Five lots corner Kiowa and Spruce streets, each 38 feet frontage on the rapid transit line, just four blocks from Antlers hotel. To quick buyers $400 to $700 each. Great bargains.

3. Two fine lots on Washington avenue, close to town, for $1125, or $700 for one lot. Terms half cash, balance two years at 8 per cent. A snap for someone.

4. A corner lot 50x100 feet, facing south, on Colorado avenue, in West Colorado Springs, for $900. Everyone knows this will soon be worth much more money.

PARRISH'S ADDITION.

1. A lot 50x100 feet, on Kiowa street east of Chestnut, for $750. Inferior lots in inferior locations are selling for $1000.
2. Corner 100 by 135 feet on Platte avenue, $1200.
3. Corner 100 by 100 feet on Bijou street, $1400.
4. Corner 50 by 100 feet on Kiowa street, $850.
5. Corner 38 by 100 feet on Bijou street, $500.
6. Corner 100 by 100 feet on Pike's Peak avenue, $1800.
7. Inside lots on Pike's Peak and Platte avenues and on Kiowa and Bijou streets from $600 to $1300, according to size and location.

Lots in West End Addition, Walnut Addition, Orgain's Addition, Powell Addition, D. R. G. Wood Addition, Loomis's Addition, North End Addition, Seward's Addition, La Veigne, Colorado City, Manitou, Calvert Heights, and the great resort, Broadmoor.

COUNTRY ESTATES.

1. I am authorized to offer for sale, for a short time, the charming country residence and estate, so well and favorably known as Ridge Lawn, comprising 150 acres of enclosed land, only ten miles northeast of town by a good wagon road. This place is subdivided into four fields, and seventy acres are under cultivation. No irrigation is required, good crops of grain and potatoes being raised without it. The improvements consist of a handsome house of 9 rooms and bath room with hot and cold water, water being furnished from hydraulic ram set in the fine springs which abound on the property. There is a large barn, 30x60, with a box stalls, carriage, feed and tool houses, for ten tons of hay; meat house, dairy house; ice house containing 100 tons of pure ice, cut from pond covering an acre of ground near the house; also plenty of water fourteen feet deep from the springs, over flowing and pure. There is one spring 6 feet deep, of iron and sulphur water. Also a potato "diggin" holding 20,000 lb. The residence is insured for $4000. Taken altogether, this is the most desirable place for less money than has been offered in the springs. It can be kept full all the time. The owner wishes to give his profession in the city, or he would not think of selling.

2. Manitou Athol! Unsurpassed for grandeur and beauty of scenery, and the surroundings remarkable peaks of nature in stone and [illegible] a second Grey Eyrie. Anyone wishing a home surrounded by nature in its wildest, grandest, weirdest, most awe-inspiring, and at the same time lovely forms, can have find it.

A DONATION.

I will give, free of cost, to any respectable association that will establish here, thereon, sufficient ground at "Fairmount Park," two miles from this city, for the purposes of a Sanitarium, Summer Resort, Hotel, or other institution of a public character, which will attract people and public attention to the health provided such institutions or establishments be of first class character, and I have sufficient means. Correspondence solicited.

Time is no doubt of the discovery of good paying mineral at Cripple creek. The important question now is how much?

The Jamaica plan is one that should recommend itself to American pugilists. Fighting with seven-inch knives (was it not seven feet?) and a vengeance beats squaring for wind and gate money.

Last night's heavy rain in Illinois interrupted telegraphic communication with a large area, yet we present the usual amount of matter this morning, including an account of the storm. The Gazette's double team, Associated and United, is a winner every time.

There are few countries where an addition of 4,000,000 acres of fertile land to the area open for settlement could be made. The Cherokee strip will not, however, attract so much of a rush as it would have done if the Oklahoma excitement and disappointment were not fresh in people's mind.

A live western city with a population of 12,000 and no board of trade is rather of an anomaly, and the appeal for the resurrection or reorganization of this body which recently appeared in these columns is surely a reasonable one. There are every day reasons for the establishment of such an organization. Yesterday for instance a couple of hundred members of the national organization of car accountants stopped over at Manitou on their tour of the state and were as much of Colorado Springs as possible through the car windows. The Kansas district association of editors who expect to arrive here on the 27th inst. ought to receive some attention, even as a matter of pure business, and no one but the representatives of the board of trade can do this sort of thing.

There has been a suspicion in the public mind that "diplomatic language" was a polite term for lying. According to this view Signor Corte is a diplomatist who is well qualified for the highest positions. It is almost impossible to believe that he has made his statements in good faith. The statement that the New Orleans trouble took place because the Italians were competing with the native workmen, and that Politz and his companions were killed on that account is too absurd to be believed by anyone who had the facilities for finding out the truth that Corte had. If the late consul really made this statement, it would be well to formally ask his connection with the recall of Baron Fava. A few statements from such an audacious diplomatist would go far towards accounting for the strange actions of the Italian government.

AND BEHRING AGREEMENT.

The Behring sea question is practically settled. It is true that the arrangement by which both England and the United States have agreed not to capture any more seals except those which are needed for the maintenance of the fisheries, is only a temporary one, a "modus vivendi," and that the arbitration which is to provide the final settlement is to come later. But arbitration will now surely come, and whatever be its outcome, it is satisfactory to know that the question at issue will be settled and settled peacefully and honorably. The United States has no wish to abate any of its just pretensions in Behring sea, but it would be better and cheaper if all our rights to sea and seal were lost rather than that war should come between the two great English speaking nations of the world.

There is now a strong precedent in favor of arbitration between this country and Great Britain. The Alabama claims, the northwest boundary dispute and the Canadian fisheries have been thus arranged in a friendly manner, and the seal settlement will soon be added to the list. Each incident is important not only as settling an international quarrel which might have resulted seriously, but also as increasing the likelihood that arbitration will be used in other disputes. The success of this method, so superior to war, has already attracted much attention from other nations and has made it highly improbable that war will come in any future trouble between the English speaking nations.

There is one peculiarity in the seal agreement which seems to extend the principles of international comity to a degree not hitherto reached. In cases of disputed title to land or the payment of a certain sum of money. In the present case it is more as if the legislatures of the two countries had passed a law which they asked by common action put into effect. May we not see in the sailing of English and American war ships side by side to the far Arctic seas to preserve peace and enforce laws, a forecast of the time when navies shall exist only as a police force, and the harmonious and combined strength of civilization be used to ensure the peace of the world, and powerfully to influence its progress?

Hippolyte is all Right.

New York, June 18.—Haytian Consul Price said to day that there was not the slightest foundation for the statement that President Hippolyte had been shot; that he had received a mail from Port au Prince of a later date than the time of the alleged shooting and that everything indicated that everything was tranquil down there, and business was going on as usual. "Why, Hippolyte himself," said Mr. Price, "is very popular in this city would have to be a great deal of an event by cable over this."

FOR BRAVE LIFE SAVERS

ROBERT GRAVES WRITES OF MEDALS OFFERED BY THE GOVERNMENT.

Three Hundred and Twenty-five of These Medals Have Been Awarded Since Their Issue Was Authorized—How Some of Them Have Been Won.

[Special Correspondence.]

WASHINGTON, June 15.—A few days ago Secretary Foster wrote a letter to Curtis Harrison, a corporal in the regular army and inclosed to him a piece of silver. It is not often that a cabinet officer writes letters to plain corporals, but Corporal Harrison is a hero, and the piece of silver sent him is one which he will be proud to wear to his dying day—the medal of the life saving service, which is awarded in recognition of gallant conduct. One day last November Corporal Harrison was the driver of a wagon in which Captain Schuyler, of the Fifth cavalry, Mrs. R. D. Thomas and Miss Nellie Thomas (wife and daughter of Captain Thomas, also of the Fifth cavalry) were passengers.

In fording Red river, Texas, the four horses and the wagon were swept 100 yards down stream by the dangerous current, and all were in imminent danger of drowning. The peril was greatly augmented when one of the horses became entangled in his harness, floundering wildly, and threatening to overturn the wagon into the raging water. Without hesitation Corporal Harrison, though unarmed, sprang into the torrent, held fast to the harness of the wheel horses, unharnessed the drowning horses, disengaged the leaders and, mounting one of them, reached the shore and rode rapidly to summon assistance. This done, he returned, plunged again into the stream, trusted to the current to float him to the right spot, and managed to reach the imperiled officer and women and to render valuable assistance in getting them and the remaining horses to the shore.

Three hundred and twenty-five of these life saving medals have been awarded since their issue was authorized by congress, seventeen years ago. One hundred and fifty-seven of them are gold medals, in reward of "extreme and heroic daring," and 168 are silver medals, given in most cases in recognition of efforts but little less heroic than those which won the medals of the first class. To tell how each of these trophies was earned would be to write a book on deeds of daring.

GOLD MEDAL [Obverse.] GOLD MEDAL [Reverse.]

In 1883 and 1884 Cornelius Roach was a deckhand on a Boston ferryboat but notwithstanding his humble station proved himself a true hero. One night two men in a small rowboat became panic stricken at the approach of the ferryboat and jumped into the water. They were unable to swim, and would have drowned had not Roach leaped to the rescue. He reached one just as he was sinking, and slipped a life preserver over his shoulders, and then aided the other and swam with him to the pier. It was a gallant rescue. Roach effected many other rescues, and finally lost one of his legs while trying to save a man who had fallen into the ferry slip just as the boat approached. He was awarded a gold medal.

If ever there was a hero in this world John P. F. Hagen, of Philadelphia, is one. In February, 1884, when only twenty years old, he was assisting a large number of small boys by drawing them to and fro on a sled upon the ice of the Schuylkill, opposite Fairmount park. Suddenly the ice gave way, and precipitated the entire party into the river. Without thought of himself Hagen instantly proceeded to rescue his companions. Though borne down by one of the youngsters, who grasped him around the neck as they plunged into the icy water, he struggled to the surface and lifted boy after boy within reach of a man named Eisle, who carried them safely to the bank. The hole in the ice was twenty five or thirty feet across, and the intrepidity and strength of the young man are evidenced by the fact that he rescued from this great danger no fewer than thirteen lads. When all who were in sight had been helped out, Hagen coolly swam around the edge of the ice and among the floating cakes, exploring with his hands and feet as far as he could reach, to be sure that none were left. Then, and not until then, did he think of his own safety. His gallantry was recognized by the citizens of Philadelphia, who made up a hand-some purse, and placed it in the hands of trustees for his education and advancement. The service gave him a gold medal.

A number of boys and girls have earned medals. The youngest of them was little Marie Parsons, ten years old, who with great presence of mind and bravery rescued a man and a child from drowning in Gardiner's bay, Long Island. The boom of a sailboat, manned by a Mr Irvine, swept overboard a little girl of seven. Irvine promptly jumped to her assistance, but the frightened child clung to him with such persistence that he was soon almost helpless. Marie Parsons, happening to see the accident from the shore, launched a skiff and rowed to the rescue.

Frederick Kernochan, a lad of ten years, earned a silver medal by rescuing a boy who fell off a flatboat in deep water. The boy sprang after her, and as she could not swim she quickly dragged him down. They sank twice, but finally he managed to pull her into shallow water.

A silver medal was awarded Edith Clark, sixteen years old, for saving a companion from drowning in 1886. The pupils of the Convent of Our Lady of the Sacred Heart at Oakland, Cal., were enjoying a holiday at Lake Chabot. Three of the young ladies were wading along the shore, when one of them, Miss Donnelly, stepped off a submerged bank into sixty feet of water. Miss Clark heard the cries, and ran down from the top of the hill and plunged in to the rescue. She was a good swimmer, but to swim and "tread" water with only one hand free, impeded by her drenched clothes and supporting her unconscious classmate was no easy task. Yet she plucky kept up the struggle for ten or fifteen minutes when help arrived.

Captain Charles Gaunch, a tug master at Manistee, Mich., wears a gold medal. Between 1874 and 1881 he saved the lives of eighty two persons. First he rescued two fishermen whose boat had capsized in a storm. A year later the dawn of light one wild October morning showed a schooner out in Lake Michigan, beam up, and six men clinging to the rigging. Captain Gaunch organized a crew, put out in a fishing boat, and was barely able to get through the terrible breakers. On approaching the schooner it was found necessary to run between her main and mizzen masts, as she lay on her side, while the spars were thrashing and rolling around dangerously. Into this perilous trap the brave captain pushed his little craft. The men were rescued, and half an hour later the schooner went to pieces.

A most pathetic story is that of Captain Charles P. Smith, of the steamer Seawanhaka. The afternoon of June 23, 1880, this vessel left her pier, East river, New York, with 300 passengers. Opposite Hallett's Point a torrent of flame burst through the hatches, near the engine room. Of course a fearful panic ensued, but it was noticed by those on shore that though the flames leaped and writhed and the passengers wildly screamed, the wheels still turned and the boat was racing at her topmost speed. The explanation was that one man on board had not lost his head. Captain Smith, at his post, had seen with one flash of judgment that it would be useless to fight the fire, and that the only chance of saving the lives of his passengers lay in quickly reaching the steamer. The bank near by were rocky, but a half mile away was a low lying, marshy island, and it was to this place that Captain Smith drove the burning vessel. Her speed drove the heat and smoke aft, and forced many passengers in that part of the boat to jump over board. In this way thirty or forty were drowned.

When Captain Smith first headed the boat for the island the flames were nearly under him. Though slowly roasting, he kept his grip upon the wheel. From time to time, above the frenzied shrieks of the passengers, his voice was heard crying to them not to jump. Many obeyed him, and remained on deck till the race with fire was won, and the flaming steamer was driven forty feet upon the marshy beach. Then, with his face swollen to nearly double its natural size, with hands, arms and neck blistered by the heat, Captain Smith ran from the pilot house to help women and children reach the land. There was an unusual delay in awarding the gold medal to Captain Smith and the very day the medal was received at the treasury department from the mint, news came of the death of the hero from exposure, due, doubtless, to the injuries suffered in the pilot house during that race for life.

Mrs. Ida Lewis Wilson, who under her maiden name of Ida Lewis won national celebrity as a life saver, was some years ago awarded the gold medal for saving two soldiers who had fallen through the ice at Lime Rock lighthouse, Newport, of which Mrs. Lewis Wilson is still the keeper. Mrs. Lewis Wilson had already saved thirteen lives.

Other wearers of the medal are John H. Rapp, of Rivington street, New York, who has saved some thirty lives; C. A. J. Quackenbush, New York, thirty five lives; William Daly, Santa Cruz, Cal., thirty lives; Julius Rohn, Milwaukee, fifty lives, and Joseph and Alfred Cardian, of Michigan, who saved William Marshall and three others, of the Spectator Reef light house.

In the month April, 1885, William Marshall, keeper of Spectator Reef lighthouse, Lake Huron, undertook to go thither in a sailboat from Mackinac Island. The weather was bitter cold, a gale was blowing and the lake was full of ice, both fixed and floating. Besides Keeper Marshall there were on board James Marshall, his son, Edward Chambers and Edward Lasley. Suddenly a gust of wind and an accident to the rigging overturned the little vessel, and the men were thrown into the icy water. All contrived to get hold of the gunwale, and by an almost superhuman effort Chambers cut away the foremast with a pocket knife, but this did not help matters much.

Young Marshall suffered the most, being under water more than the others, and the keeper in time was greatly exhausted by the constant hold he kept on his son. Nothing could be more touching than the devotion and self sacrifice of these unfortunate men, who from first to last appeared to forget themselves in the desire to encourage and sustain each other. It is incredible that the four men lived in this position for three hours, when they had drifted near enough to the shore to enable their cries to be heard by three or four fishermen. Gallant young Joseph Cardian at once undertook the rescue in a small skiff. His companions told him he was only going to his death, as a formidable array of breakers, thick with ice, was crashing upon the shore, with a rough sea beyond.

SILVER MEDAL [Obverse.] SILVER MEDAL [Reverse.]

The young man knew no such word as fail, and though often all but swamped finally managed to force his frail craft out to the wreck. Young Marshall was by this time almost dead, and Chambers and Lasley the latter suffering terribly from an injury to one of his legs—nobly insisted that the keeper should take the first chance and with his son endeavor to reach the shore. Young Marshall feared the skiff would not hold two, and begged his father to go first. "Go, father," said he; "don't mind me." These were the brave boy's last words. He was dragged into the boat by his father and Cardian, where he lay still. As the skiff neared the shore it was capsized in the breakers. The three men seized it, but in a moment Cardian perceived that it would not hold them all, and, shouting to the others to hold on, bravely let go and struck out for the land.

In a few moments the wretched father saw his son release his hold and go down. Himself near perishing he lost consciousness, and clinging with a death grip to the boat was washed ashore. Cardian meanwhile was battling like a hero with the sea, sank three or four times, and was finally dragged out from among the ice bergs and breakers unconscious. The fishermen secured the boat, and carried the inanimate bodies out of the reach of the waves. Who was to volunteer to make a second effort to rescue the imperiled men beyond the breakers? Without a word Alfred Cardian, eighteen years old, turned from the apparently dead body of his brother, poured the water out of the skiff, launched it and dauntlessly put out to the rescue. Having reached the capsized boat, with a prudence equal to his heroism he decided to take only one man at a time. Chambers begged Lasley to go first, and Lasley consented on account of his injury. Young Cardian and Lasley reached the shore, and the boy instantly returned for Chambers, who was also safely landed. Hours of hard work restored Keeper Marshall to consciousness. To each of the heroic Cardian boys was awarded the gold medal, never more worthily bestowed. If there ever was an epic poem it was the rescue this was one.

A Peculiarity of the Schoolboy.

A peculiarity of the schoolboy mind is to put things negatively. As for example, a boy was asked to write a short essay on pins by way of an exercise in composition, and produced the following:

"Pins are very useful. They have saved the lives of a great many men, women and children—in fact, whole families."

"How so?" asked the puzzled inspector on reading this.

"Why, by not swallowing them," was the immediate reply.

On the same line was the essay of another schoolboy on the subject of salt, which he described as "The stuff that makes potatoes taste bad when you don't put it on."—London Tit-Bits.

KINDERGARTEN MEETING

An Interesting Meeting in the Interests of the Work.

The Colorado Springs Kindergarten association held a meeting in the Antlers parlors yesterday afternoon, with the Rev. Mr. Mullen presiding.

The meeting was called to order at a little after 3 o'clock, and a five minute address was given by Dr. Montague, who spoke briefly on the kindergarten subject. He believed in kindergartens because they train the perceptive faculty in the relation of one thing to another, relative and including. It encourages a hatred of material things for these spiritual. The children should be trained to see the world as God sees it, to see nature as it is, and God as he says nature, and to see things as they are.

The annual reports of the secretary and treasurer were read and accepted. According to the latter $[illegible] have been received from donations, from membership fees, from tuitions $[illegible], making the total amount of money received in the past year $701. The expenditures amount to $[illegible], leaving a balance of $[illegible] in the treasury.

Miss Dewey gave an address on "What is a Kindergarten?" It is not and should not be, she said, a school, and no peculiar books should be allowed. Home life and kindergarten life should be closely connected and in close harmony. The child should be taught to abhor the bad and love the good, not by set dogmas and maxims, but by appeal to the feelings.

Mrs. Anna Cooper spoke a few words, stating that it cost nearly $[illegible] a year to carry on the work of the kindergarten, and spoke of the new school which they hope to build in a short time. Eight hundred and seventy-five dollars is now promised for this new building.

Mr. Louis Ehrich was called upon to give an address, but he believed that the unusual thunder should be reserved for a larger meeting and that they should proceed to business. He suggested that in a week from next Sunday night the opera house be taken by the association, invitations be issued, pastors of the city be requested to withhold their services for the occasion, and a large and representative meeting be held at which the Hungarian band should be engaged at his own expense, to favor the audience with sacred songs. Mr. Ehrich moved that an effort be made to have this meeting and that the subject of ways and means be left with the executive committee, which motion was carried.

The old board of directors was re-elected.

A New Plyer in Lion Training.

Colonel Boone, the champion lion tamer and trainer, has made a new departure in the mode and manner of training and exhibiting lions.

The old-fashioned lion tamer in the cage was able to keep his lions under control because they were afraid of him, and they jumped over whips and rings because these obstructions were put in their way, and they were compelled to go through their performance. Colonel Boone's plan has been to get at their intelligence and educate them. This is a tedious task. A lion has but little mind, the colonel's idea was that if he could accomplish this he could perform with them in the ring, freed from all restraint. He has succeeded, and is the only man in the world to-day who can appear with lions, free and unshackled, in a circus ring, amphitheatre, or anywhere else.

All who visit the Adam Forepaugh shows, which are to exhibit at Colorado Springs on Wednesday, August 19 will have an opportunity of witnessing Col. Boone's novel and thrilling performance with five liberated lions in the arena. The ferocious brutes will be seen in the inclosed inclosure, riding tricycles, playing see-saw, dancing, posturing, forming lofty pyramids, harnessed to chariots and racing, and other equally novel and wonderful exhibitions of human sagacity. The Colonel will be assisted in his remarkable exhibition by Miss Millie Carlotta, and the marvelous trained German hunting dog, "Saxon." At present is Col. Boone's first season in this country, and persons who have seen his performance with these forest kings all unite in pronouncing it the most remarkable and startling exhibition of wild beast training ever presented to the public.

Roland Reed.

The well known comedian Mr. Roland Reed will appear at the opera house to-morrow in one of his best plays, "The Woman Hater." On Saturday evening he will produce his new play, "Lend Me a Wife." An exchange has the following to say: "'The Woman Hater' is a comedy and Mr. Reed plays his part in a manner to conform to that of his work. It is the most humorous part of the kind ever seen here. Nothing one cannot help laughing at heartily, and is not ashamed of it at afterwards. There is a very considerable degree of illusion attained in this eccentric role. In this he exceeds any former interpretation and is one of the causes for the continuous laughter it compels. 'The Woman Hater' is familiar to our public and need not be described in detail. Mr. Reed is well supported by Miss Isadore Mora, Miss Maud Monroe and Mrs. Mary Hall, of whom take their parts in a creditable manner. Among the other people in the cast are Harry A. Smith, Frank Davis, Ernest Bartram, William Crews, Julian Reed, Max Fehr, James Douglass and S. A. Gorman."

Shenandoah Sermon.

Drama is an object lesson for both the young, and no one is too old to see life has a purpose above the aims and practices of men. In it we have shown to us vivid pictures; how right can triumph over, how noble sentiments and deeds can raise us above the level of common place. How to face and fear pain; how to escape from woe and find peace and pleasure in the perfected sunshine of contentment and clearance. In short, it illustrates vice as attractive the brighter side only by drawing a sharp contrast between good and evil. We read of these and forget them, but the strong pictures of the drama are photographed upon our memories for all time. The impressions naturally have their effect upon our actions, are unconsciously formed by them, though the strength of the example. It is true there are some plays which have the reverse of

Mr. George Jackson, the Pueblo representative of the Manitou Mineral Water company, was in Manitou yesterday making arrangements with Mr. Sterling about the display of that company in the palace. He proposes to make it one of the most attractive spots in the attractive exposition.

Mr. J. N. Randel, of Ottumwa, Ia., was the guest of a friend at the Barker Wednesday night and yesterday morning. He was en route home from Trinidad, where he purchased a carload of horses and sold a carload of blooded cattle. Mr. Randel was a resident of Castle Rock in the '70s, and familiar with the entire country. He was greatly surprised at the immense improvements which have taken place in both Manitou and Colorado Springs. He left at 2:25 for Castle Rock, where he will renew old acquaintances for a few days.

Wednesday evening the progressive citizens of Manitou met in the council chamber and made the preliminary arrangements for being properly represented at Pueblo on the occasion of the opening of the Mineral Palace July 4th. Mr. N. E. Guyot of Pueblo, was present, and made a most entertaining talk, explaining fully the magnitude of Pueblo's celebration and offering accommodations for anything Manitou might wish to send down. A ways and means committee was appointed consisting of Mr. C. H. Browne, Mr. C. W. Barker and Mr. Chas. Alison. Mr. Alison went to Pueblo yesterday on business for the committee. An attempt will be made to have the $2.00 Sunday rate hold good all week from Pueblo to Manitou and return. Arrangements will also be made for floats in the trade display, and for the distribution of advertising matter.

A NEW TRAIN.

Elegant Parlor & Dining Cars on the Manitou Branch.

Manitou Journal

The Denver & Rio Grande has always been known as the most progressive as well as most liberal railroad in Colorado. Every improvement in railroading as soon as perfected is applied to their trains and tracks, keeping them ever in the van for safety and comfort.

Wednesday morning the train used on the Manitou branch was replaced by another one embracing several of the latest patents. The new train consists of two brand new chair cars. The forward one has a baggage compartment in the front end and the rest is used for a smoking car. The chairs are arranged in pairs and are very comfortable, being of the same pattern as those used on the regular D. & R. G. trains on the main line. The rear car is of the same general pattern as the other and has a smoking compartment at one end. Both cars are fitted with gas burners on the Pintsch system, by which the gas is kept in compressed form in cylinders under the car. There are three burners in the car and one over each platform, giving the whole car a steady, brilliant white light.

Another important improvement is the electric bell communication with the engine. A bell rope runs through the car but instead of connecting to the engine it terminates in a little fixture over the platform by which when the rope is pulled a circuit is closed and the bell rings in the engine. This does away with the slack in the rope or other things interfering with instantaneous communication with the engine. The road bed between Denver and Colorado Springs has just been put into perfect shape, and with the smooth traveling, comfortable, roomy cars, freedom from dust, and quick time, the Rio Grande should be the popular route between Colorado points and especially Colorado Springs and Manitou.

BOISE FRUITS AND GRASSES.

BOISE CITY, Idaho, June 17, 1891.

The tremendous crop of fruit now growing in this vicinity again calls attention to the productiveness of this irrigated soil. The demand for small tracts has begun to make itself felt. The next crop of fruit will require all the resources of an entire family to gather and put on the market, while the returns will equal the product of 160 acres of grain land. The demand is greater than any possible supply. If increased railway facilities can be obtained this city of Boise and its neighborhood will supply the entire northwest with dry fruit.

Farmers are now in the first hay harvest, a second will follow later, and on many farms a third crop will be cut. The entire value of a Boise City farm is thus fully represented in the annual product of hay. The price rarely drops below $10 per ton, and at four crops from the same area and the profit is greatly seen. There is no limit to the demand of our soil except in the quantity of this then water, and capital is being now and very freely invested in canals as the speed of water distribution increases. The number of artesian wells is also increasing. Fruit land close to Boise is quoted at $80 to $150 per acre, while for established ditches and good farm lands can be had at $40 per acre. Nearly all this desirable and high priced soil was secured four years ago. The few thousand here then represent Beyond all price, and there is no to be no reason why they should not continue to do so well.
